AMERICA FOR AMERICANS

MCKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1859 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1884 William L. Wilson was dined and wined in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

The State Treasury is now practically empty, with probably $300,000 of claims unpaid, and in addition to these $400,000 to the School Fund and $125,000 regular quarterly installment for the Asylums will become due early in January, and there will be no funds on hand to meet any of this indebtedness, and no prospect of any part of it for nearly a year.

The New York Mail and Express remarks that the sugar schedule of the infatuated Tariff Law has already involved us in serious trade difficulties with Germany, and now we are to have an entanglement with Spain on account of this same schedule, which may lead to higher prices for sugar in the domestic markets. The Sugar Trust comes high, but the Democratic Senate would serve it.

YES, HE FOUND THE SLIPPERS.

But He Made Another Interesting Discovery as Well.

Chicago Tribune.
They had just returned from the theater. Mrs. Bobolink had twisted her foot on the way home, and her husband volunteered to go up stairs and fetch her slippers.

"I wish you would, dear," said his wife; "but, Theodore, do be careful of the dock just where I tell you—they are sure to be there. And, Theodore, don't on any account open the second drawer in my bureau, for my Christmas gifts are all in there, and I wouldn't have you see yours before Christmas for anything. Do you hear?"

"Oh, him!" said Mr. Bobolink, with his eyes on the evening paper, "the slippers are in your second bureau drawer!"

"No, Theodore, so! They are in the left hand corner of the third drawer in the right hand cupboard, Don't look anywhere else."

"All right; I'll fetch 'em in a jiffy," and he bounded up the stairs.

"O, dear," sighed his wife after he was gone, "a man never can find anything."

"Mary," called an anxious voice, "did you say in the right hand corner of the left hand cupboard or the right? I mean the left hand corner of the—O, I say Mary, where are those slippers, any how?"

"In the left hand corner of the third drawer in the right hand cupboard," chirped his wife, "your memory must be failing. O, dear," she added herself, "I wonder if I could have forgotten and moved them today?"

Then she hobbled to the foot of the stairs: "Can't you find them, Theo?"

There was a hasty banging of a drawer and a sound of rapid footsteps.

"Coming all right, now," and he appeared with a long limp, one hand; "it didn't take me long to find 'em, did it?"

"Of course not, dear; they were just where I told you."

But Mr. Bobolink seemed absorbed in thought for some moments. When he again spoke it was upon another matter.

"Chocolate and blue are my favorite colors, Mary dear," he observed. "If you should ever want to make me a beau-coup, just remember that."

His wife forgot her twisted foot and sprang upright.

"Theodore, Bobolink, where did you and those slippers? I do believe that you saw my Christmas gifts!"

"Well—I—yes, Mary, the Christmas gifts were in the third drawer of the right hand cupboard, and the slippers were in the second bureau drawer, and—I thought you would like to know that I

And she wept and refused to be comforted.

REMARKABLE SCENE.

Oho Court Refuses to Return a Fugitive to Kentucky.

A. H. Hampton, alias Jackson, colored, was indicted in Marion County for robbing a farmer named Dunham, who accused him of robbing his orchard.

The bullet entered Dunham's jaw, but he recovered.

Hampton fled to Cincinnati, where he was arrested.

W. W. Penn, a typical mountaineer in appearance, presented himself in court with extradition papers in which there was not a flaw.

Hampton was regularly identified, which he appealed to the court:

"Our massa, Judge, don't send me to Kentucky. I ain't no coward, but they do say I'm a n—n—n—. I've got letters from my friends telling me they would string me up. Do an send me back, Judge. I'll have no chance."

Judge Buchwalter asked Mr. Penn if he had heard of such threats.

"Yes, sir," was the answer.

Then the court, with his fingers pointed at the Deputy Sheriff, said:

"Four months ago I sent on extradition papers for a fugitive from justice into Kentucky. He was lynched soon after he left the train. The authorities took their word with this court, the state of Kentucky broke faith with her sister state of Ohio in the protection of human life. I won't send him back to Kentucky, and I will have a letter from our Governor, and from the presiding Judge of your District, that Hampton will not be placed in jeopardy, and that he is given a fair and impartial trial."

A murmur of applause arose from the large crowd present. Hampton was returned to jail.

An Extra Session of Congress May Be Necessary.

The Tax on Whisky is Thought to Be Already High Enough.

This Tax Will Not Be Considered as This Would Precipitate a Division of the Tariff Question—it Is Feared No Currency Legislation Is Possible.

Washington, Jan. 3.—The first question to be considered by congress will be the advisability of holding a caucus on the currency bill. The necessity for an assurance of sufficient revenue to properly consider the bill has suggested a reason to additional taxation, and this has taken the form of a resolution which would seem to contemplate the levying of a tax upon beer or alcohol.

The new arrangement for facilitating foreign mails from Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago and St. Louis, will be put into operation, reducing the postage rates for Cape Colony, Congo free states and all other countries not embraced in the universal postal union. Under the present system the members of the union will now employ uniform rates except Canada and Mexico, for which special rates have long been in vogue. The change results in a reduction of rates for ordinary mail from ten to fifteen cents on letters and from twenty-five to two cents for two ounces.

ENDANGERED.

The Peace Negotiations Between China and Japan.

The Latter Does Not Want to Wait for Hon. John W. Foster,

And the City May Again Go Up, "On to Pekin"—Assertion That Foster Would Be Welcomed as Chinese Representative in the Negotiations Denied.

Was there ever a time when threats en the peace negotiations between China and Japan, and from present indications, it is exceedingly probable that hostilities may be renewed with even greater vigor and the cry of "On to Pekin" will again be heard? The Chinese advisory counsel, and it is even probable that arrangements for the settlement of the dispute will have been completed before Mr. Foster reaches Hiroshima where the representatives of both the warring powers will meet.

It may be stated with some degree of positiveness that a direct declination by the Chinese ambassadors to begin negotiations with Mr. Foster, to Hiroshima will result in positive disagreement and the breaking off of the overtures, which will place the possibilities for peace further away than ever caused the Japanese forces to withdraw from the vicinity of the Chinese capital. In that event nothing short of the fall of Pekin is likely to put an end to the conflict in the Fourth district, who lives at Sidney.

Best Places for Him.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 3.—Joseph Phillips, a young man from New York, was arrested Wednesday and lodged in jail. Several months ago he became deluded with the idea that parties were trying to take his life and shot an innocent man named Poteet, the son of a prominent citizen, and was provided he arrives at Hiroshima before his business is concluded, and if frequent requests for adjournment are made by the Chinese envoys, in order that they may consult with him, the Chinese commissioners will probably refuse to proceed further unless these requests cease.

Minister Kurino, of Japan, said Wednesday, that the statement that Mr. Foster will receive no personal notice from the Japanese government, and would be cordially welcomed to Japan as one of the Chinese representatives in the peace negotiations was erroneous. No such notice has been given, and Mr. Foster has not been officially recognized by Japan, although he is a friend of Viscount Matsui, the minister of foreign affairs; the latter will not allow personal considerations to cause him to extend any unusual favor to the representative of Japan's enemies.

A statement published that Mr. Foster will receive the highest decorations from Japan if his mission is successful receives Mr. Kurino's unqualified denial. He said that the minister of foreign affairs, the latter will not allow personal considerations to cause him to extend any unusual favor to the representative of Japan's enemies.

Favorable to Florence Blythe.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Jan. 3.—The supreme court Wednesday denied the appeal of Alice Edith Dickenson, the alleged widow of Edward Thomas H. Blythe, in favor of Florence Blythe. The appeal was from the decision of Judge Coffey awarding the Blythe millions to Florence. It was the last important appeal in the case to decide. There will be a final appeal pending from Judge Coffey's original order of distribution of the estate, but they are merely technical and practically hopeless.
